

Hang Out Your Carpets !

The following is offered as a suggestion for decorations :

Lady Maud Warrender, writing in the Daily Mail, says:—As a member of the League of Arts, may I remind the public of the old English custom of decorating houses by hanging out of every window either carpets, rugs, curtains, table covers, patchwork, or pieces of stuff? It is by far the most effective and the simplest form of decoration, and since everyone possesses something of this description the idea has the merit of being economical, especially in consideration of the high price of bunting; and if it were carried out on July 19 not only in London but in all towns and villages, the effect would be most beautiful.

Decorations.

It is hoped the Inhabitants will put out all the Flags they can.
